DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-48 are pending in the instant application.

Claims 1-16 and 21-35 are presented for examination.

The response to the restriction requirement of April 30, 2010 has been received and entered. Applicant elected Group I, without traverse for examination purpose.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-16 and 21-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The claims are drawn to a method of reducing the risk of glaucoma and treating or inhibiting the progression of glaucoma using a HMG-CoA inhibitor. The specification discloses examples of structures of some compounds within the scope of what is claimed. However there is no evidence that there is any per se structure/function relationship between the disclosed HMG-CoA inhibitor and any others that might be found using the claimed method. Structural identifying characteristics of group of HMG-CoA inhibitors are not disclosed. Therefore, the claimed invention is not supported by an adequate written description. To provide adequate written description and evidence of possession of the claimed genus, the specification must provide sufficient distinguishing identifying characteristics of the genus. The factors to be considered include disclosure of complete or partial structure, physical and /or chemical properties, Functional characteristics, structure/function correlation, or any combination thereof.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-16 and 21-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lockhart et al. (US 2004/0248972).

Lockhart et al. teach the use of the claimed statin compounds for the treatment of visual disorders, such as glaucoma. See page Para [0131], [0135], claims 16 and 18. The topical ophthalmic administration is taught in Para [0159]. The addition of other therapeutic agents in combination with the statin is taught in Para [0147]. Lockhart et al. differs from the claimed invention in teaching a different pathway, such as PDE6. It would have been obvious to a person skilled in the art to use the claimed compounds for the treatment of glaucoma, motivated by the teachings of Lockhart et al., which teach the use of such compounds for the treatment of glaucoma. The use of the same compounds as claimed herein for the treatment of glaucoma is expected to inhibit the HMG-CoA pathway.
